Dear Parent/Carer,

Many of us will have watched the statement from the Prime Minister yesterday with a sense of expectation and a desire for clarity about the next steps for the nation. The need for caution was made clear and there will an additional guidance document released later today that might offer some more details on specific changes to the current situation.

We will look through this guidance and any additional information we receive from the Department for Education and we will give you a further update tomorrow. For now, we will continue to operate our provision as we have done over recent weeks.

Take care and stay safe.

Yours faithfully,

Malcolm White
Headteacher
